Every day, school leaders and teachers across the country are asked to master several roles in order to successfully prepare students for college or a career. We ask them to be educators, caretakers, therapists, and advocates but rarely give them the tools needed to provide students with a high-quality education.

A growing body of research shows that when educators have high-quality instructional materials and the professional learning needed to use those materials well, student achievement increases and classroom inequity is reduced.

Rivet Education partners with state and local education agencies to deploy simple, practical, and scalable strategies that increase the number of educators who have access to high-quality instructional materials and professional learning so that students receive the education they deserve.

OUR VISION FOR SUCCESS IS ONE WHERE . . .

- Every school district invests in HQIM and aligned professional learning because they value their positive impact on students.
- Every state education agency incentivizes their school districts to adopt HQIM and HQIM-aligned professional learning services.
- Professional learning providers offer content-specific and practical support to educators in using HQIM effectively, and are committed to continuous improvement.
- Parents and educators partner to ensure students are fully engaged in their learning and HQIM.
- All teachers use high-quality instructional materials (HQIM) and are regularly trained in how to use them effectively.
- Every student receives meaningful, grade-level instruction every day.

TO ACHIEVE THIS VISION, RIVET EDUCATION . . .

1. Reviews and vets professional learning services that improve the quality of professional learning that teachers and leaders receive.
Rivet’s flagship tool, the Professional Learning Partner Guide, is a free list of organizations that provide the best curriculum-aligned professional learning services in the country. As of February 2021, the PLPG features 45 recommended providers with services covering approximately 85% of the curricula rated “Green” on EdReports in all 50 states.

2. Supports state and local education agencies in creating the conditions that accelerate meaningful positive change in classrooms across their systems. Specifically, we help them:
- Define, incentivize, and monitor the quality of standards, curriculum, assessments, and professional learning;
- Develop a strong marketplace of professional learning providers to support districts in the use of high-quality instructional materials and assessments;
- Regulate or legislate policies that incentivize the delivery of high-quality instruction; and
- Communicate academic priorities and decisions within the agency, to the field, and through education allies.

“Delaware’s work with Rivet Education has truly been transformative. In merely a year, we have been able to create and articulate an instructional vision aligned to high-quality materials, create cohesion across multiple initiatives, and launch the first ever Delaware Professional Learning Partner Guide.” — Delaware Department of Education

In the past two years, Rivet Education has supported SEAs and LEAs in:

- Developing strong professional learning marketplaces through the creation of state-specific Professional Learning Partner Guides, hosting professional learning summits, and revamping a state’s professional learning grant program;
- Creating strategies to build the capacity of local education service centers to provide curriculum-specific professional learning to districts; and
- Developing school reopening plans.
