A LETTER FROM US

At Rivet Education, we believe that high-quality curriculum and professional learning are some of the most important investments school systems can make to ensure students receive the best education possible. Our belief stems from our work in Louisiana, where we saw the impact these investments can have on students and teachers. We also saw that shifting to a high-quality curriculum requires patience, hard work, and effective change management at every system level.

Unfortunately, our professional learning systems are broken, and few educators have the opportunity to participate in meaningful and engaging curriculum-based professional learning. Our recent market research found that only one in three teachers find the professional learning they receive to be useful. That means that a majority of the $18 billion spent annually on professional learning is wasted, resulting in missed opportunities to positively impact the quality of teaching and learning.

Our mission at Rivet Education is to define high-quality professional learning and create tools and services that support state and local education agencies in putting that definition into practice. Our team has over 30 years of combined experience scaling the adoption and implementation of high-quality curricula at the local, state, and national levels. We know what works, what doesn't, and how to remove barriers to successful implementation.

It's been a rewarding journey to create our foundational tools in the past couple of years and help our clients scale the use of high-quality curricula and professional learning in their states. We are committed to improving the field of curriculum-based professional learning in this country so that educators receive the best support and students get the educational opportunities they need, want, and deserve.

Sincerely,
Annie and Litsy

CHOOSE

PROFESSIONAL LEARNING PARTNER GUIDE

The Professional Learning Partner Guide is a free list of organizations that provide the best curriculum-based professional learning services in the country.

-  Reduce the burden of providing educators with proven and effective curriculum-based professional learning
-  Direct education leaders to a vetted list of best-in-class professional learning providers
-  Grow educators' and professional learning organizations' understanding of what constitutes high-quality, curriculum-based professional learning
-  Improve the overall quality of the professional learning marketplace.

Rivet conducts two review cycles annually to add new providers to the Professional Learning Partner Guide. These reviews are conducted by Rivet's team of expert reviewers and are driven by Rivet's Framework for High-Quality Professional Learning and Scoring and Evidence Guide.

CHECK

Professional Learning Diagnostics

Rivet Education's professional learning diagnostic and audit services help state and local education leaders check the quality of curriculum implementation in schools.

AT THE SCHOOL-SYSTEM LEVEL

Rivet Education can help you assess:

- How well are your teachers using the curriculum?
- How strong is your professional learning plan?
- Is your professional learning plan cohesive and focused on the types of professional learning teachers require to implement the curriculum successfully?
- Do you have the right structures to support high-quality professional learning?

AT THE STATE LEVEL

Rivet Education can help you assess:

- How successfully have your statewide investments in high-quality curriculum and professional learning improved teacher practice and student learning?
- How well do the services provided by professional learning providers reflect your definition of high-quality professional learning?
